INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Bugbrooke. We have designed this information pack to welcome new residents, and we hope that you find it useful. We hope that it will be a helpful source of the activities available in the village, and points of contact if you want to join any clubs or other organisations. All of these welcome new members, even if you have little or no relevant experience. If you find that any information is incorrect – please let me know so that I can amend the pack for future reference.

Bugbrooke Parish Council

The village is situated roughly equi-distant between Northampton, Towcester and Daventry.

Northampton

The closest large town, where most major retail stores are represented in the town center and retail parks. There is a mainline rail station on the London to Birmingham line as well as a coach station for UK links. There is a major hospital with an A & E department in the town.

Towcester

This is a small Market Town with a range of shops and supermarkets and the District Council offices are situated here. It has a public swimming pool and leisure center.

Daventry

Another Market Town again with shops and supermarkets, as well as industrial estates. It has a commercial swimming pool and leisure center.

Village History

The village was well established by the time of the Domesday Book 1086AD, and its recorded name of Buckebrocis likely to mean "Brook of the Bucks or Bucca's Brook" after the man who gave his name to Long Buckby. The present spelling appeared about 1559. The association of the name with badgers is erroneous but has nevertheless given its name to the Rugby Club and become the emblem of the village. It was first used as an emblem by the Football club and has also been adopted by the Primary School.

Bugbrooke has always been situated near to important communication routes. Banbury Lane, south of the village is thought to have been a prehistoric track way, then a Drovers way. The A5 (Watling Street) was built by the Romans, linking Dover to Chester. The Grand Union Canal, originally called the Grand Junction Canal, arrived in 1796 on its way from London to Birmingham. The railway, now the West Coast Line, was constructed in 1832, and the M1 Motorway was completed in 1959.

Heygates Mill is the headquarters of one of England's largest independent millers. The first mill on the site was established in AD800. In 1086 it was the 3rd highest rated mill in England. The packhorse "clapper" bridge dates from the 16th century when wool used to be carried over the Hoarstones brook by ponies. When the stream was widened in the 1970s the last of the ancient slabs was damaged beyond repair. The remaining pillars can still be seen beneath the modern wooden structure.

St Michael and All Angels church celebrated its 700th anniversary in 1970, It was originally dedicated to the Assumption of our Lady, later to become St Mary's, and in the 19th century its present dedication of St Michael and All Angels was established.

The village has been and still is an important centre for non-conformist religion. In the 17th century Quakerism was popular, and many villagers were imprisoned for their belief. The Baptist chapel was built in 1808, flourishing for a century and a half. Presently the Jesus Fellowship uses the chapel.

The church and many of the houses in the village are built with marlstone, a form of sandstone interspersed with ironstone, most of which was quarried at Duston and Harlestone. A full history of the village can be read in 'Bugbrooke 2000BC – 2000AD' which was produced to commemorate the Millennium in 2000.

Bugbrooke Village Information

The Parish Council Website – <http://www.bugbrookeparishcouncil.org.uk> - is updated regularly with information about the work being undertaken by the Parish Council.

The Village has a magazine LINK which is published 6 times a year, delivered free to every household and reports on the various social and sporting occurrences. There is also a LINK website which is quite expansive in giving details of what is going on in the village and is kept up to date.

<http://www.bugbrookelink.co.uk/>

Also another magazine called Village Help is distributed to every household about twice a year and is a directory of local services and trades people.

Alternatively have a look at “Bugbrooke. The friendly page for anything village related” on Facebook.

Currently the village has its own dedicated PCSO, funded by the Parish Council. PCSO Matt Taylor is a frequent sight in the village and is working with the schools and local organizations.

Council Information

At present, this area has a three tier system of local Government. The County is looked after by Northamptonshire County Council (NCC) and they are based in Northampton. The county is split into Districts and Bugbrooke is in the District of South Northamptonshire (SNC) which is based in Towcester. This is set to change in 2021 with the formation of two new unitary authorities – West and North Northamptonshire. Bugbrooke will be in the new West Northamptonshire District, together with Daventry and Northampton Borough. Finally the village has a Parish Council which is based at the office in the Community Centre. We have Councillors at all three levels and their details are below.

All eligible voters are entitled to be added to the Electoral Register as they move house. You need to apply to the Electoral Registration Offices at SNC (01327 322322).

Northamptonshire County Council

The County Council is made up of 73 elected councillors. Their prime responsibilities are highways, education, environmental planning, fire and public safety, registration offices, libraries, leisure, country parks and social care.

County Councillor Adam Brown adbrown@northamptonshire.gov.uk

07714 255077

South Northants District Council

The district Council is made up of 42 elected councillors. They make all the final decisions on planning issues after consultation with the Parish. They are responsible for emptying the rubbish bins and collecting recyclable materials as well as collecting the Council Tax from each household. We are fortunate that both of our district councillors live in the village.

District Councillors	David Harries	01604 830117
	Phil Bignell	01604 830871

Bugbrooke Parish Council

The Parish Council meets on the second Monday of every month at the Community Centre. It is made up of 15 councillors who are elected by the parishioners every 4 years (next elections in 2020). The Council is responsible as the first consultee in any non-determined planning applications. It is also responsible for the street lights in the village as well as the mowing of verges and public areas.

Parish Council Clerk Mrs Sally Bramley-Brown 01604 832838.

The Parish Office is located in the Community Centre. It is usually open 9.30 a.m. – 4.00 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, with the exception of the last Tuesday in the month. If there are any issues you want to raise or need any information, please pop in and speak to Sally. She also attends the Community Café on the last Tuesday of the month for anyone wanting to speak to her about anything. Alternatively, you can phone and leave a message, or email Parishclerk@bugbrookeparishcouncil.org
