H.M. Inspector's Report

(Mixed and Infants) ... The discipline of the upper division is good, and the scholars are carefully taught. They are interested and painstaking, and their general proficiency is creditable

The Syllabus and records should show the work more precisely, and the reports should provide useful criticism for the guidance of the Staff

In Arithmetic more use might be made of the practical solution of problems by the aid of simple apparatus, and increased attention be given to Mental calculation. The Master deserves credit for the pains he has taken to illustrate the ~~Object~~ Observation Lessons. Some modification of the course is advisable to render it more appropriate for a Country school. Some of the scholars keep notes of the weather and Nature observations. It will be well to develope this feature still further and to stimulate a hearty rivalry by the use of a Nature Calendar. The girls should always use thimbles when sewing, and some time should be devoted to repairing garments.

The Infants — 60 scholars of 3 to 7 years of age — are all taught in the same room, in three classes by two Teachers, and the need for a class-room is obvious. It is to be hoped

"that the glazed partition shown in the approved plan will be fixed without further delay

"The children are fairly advanced in attainments. Phrasing and Voice modulation should receive more attention in the Reading Lessons, and the scholars should be encouraged to aim at greater exactness in the varied occupations. The course of Object Lessons should be revised and deal with subjects that can be suitably illustrated

"The playground has not been properly drained and surfaced. Some part of it might be asphalted to provide space for Physical Exercises.

A suitable fireguard is required in the main-room

Signed J. Lunt. H. Hamilton.
